DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the retainer comprises one or more detents as recited in claim 12, and the spring as recited in claim 20 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

2. The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). Correction of the following is required: "means for supporting" as recited in claim 6, "a mounting means" as recite in claim 9, and "the retainer comprises one or more detents for retaining the faucet assembly in the folded position" as recited in claim 12.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-3, 5-11, 13, 16 and 17, as presently understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Polakoff et al. (449,430).

Regarding claims 1, 6 and 7, the Polakoff et al. reference discloses a sink (Fig. 6). The sink includes a basin (D) and a faucet assembly (Fig. 6) having a discharge neck (at H) coupled to a faucet housing (Fig. 5) that is movably support on the basin and selectively rotatable between an upright position and a folded position (Fig. 6).

Regarding claim 2, the faucet assembly also includes a flow control valve (about H').

Regarding claim 3, as schematically shown in Figure 6, the faucet assembly is located completely below the plane when in the folded position.

Regarding claim 5, the basin further includes a retainer (about O in Fig. 1) that releasably retains the faucet assembly in the folded position (page 2, left col., lines 40-42).

Regarding claim 8, the sink further includes a flow control valve (about H') coupled to the discharge neck and a supply conduit (E,E'') coupled to the control valve via the discharge neck.

Regarding claim 9, the Polakoff et al. reference discloses a sink (Fig. 6). The sink includes a basin (D), a faucet assembly (Fig. 6) having a discharge neck (at H), a handle (the lever portion of element H'), and a faucet housing (Fig. 5) supporting the discharge neck on the basin. A mounting means (Fig. 10) that allows the faucet assembly to be pivoted through an angle of approximately 90 degrees about a horizontal axis that is defined by the mounted means (Fig. 6).

Regarding claim 10, the basin also includes a drain (about D').

Regarding claims 11 and 12, the basin further includes a retainer (about O in Fig. 1) that releasably retains the faucet assembly in the folded position (page

2, left col., lines 40-42). The retainer is a detent (the bolt and spring mechanism) which is used to hold the faucet assembly in the folded position.

Regarding claims 13 and 14, the faucet assembly also includes a flow control valve (about H'). The control valve includes a connector (the bulging portion of the valve) for receiving one end of the discharge neck as shown in Figure 6.

Regarding claim 16, the sink further includes a supply conduit (E,E').

Regarding claim 17, as schematically shown in Figure 6, the faucet assembly is pivoted between an upright position and a lower position.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 4, 15 and 18-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-9, 11-13, 16 and 17 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-5 of U.S. Patent No. 6,611,972. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the patented claims anticipate the pending claims and anticipation is the epitome of obviousness.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Holzer, Hyde and Stewart were cited to show a pivot-mounting faucet.
